Foreword

This booklet presents a list of the publications issued by the International Development Research Centre and those resulting from IDRC-sponsored activities from its inception in May 1970 to the end of 1973. This list was compiled by Carol Thiessen and is based mainly on information supplied by the four divisions of the Centre. The list will be updated from time to time and reissued as a new number in our monograph series.

The International Development Research Centre is a public corporation created by an Act of the Canadian Parliament in 1970 "to initiate, encourage, support and conduct research into the problems of the developing regions of the world, and into the means for applying and adapting scientific, technical and other knowledge to the economic and social advancement of those regions." An international Board of Governors sets broad policies and approves projects initiated through the four program divisions: Agriculture, Food and Nutrition Sciences; Information Sciences; Population and Health Sciences; and Social Sciences and Human Resources.

The IDRC encourages publication of research findings by developing countries whenever possible. However, the Centre may act as publisher on occasion, where no suitable means of publication exists in a developing country or if it is felt the material deserves wider dissemination. This material is published in the IDRC Monograph Series. In some cases the Centre may purchase reprints of already published material in order to give it wider distribution. Centre personnel may also prepare articles for publication in newspapers, magazines, and journals. As well as scientific publications, the Centre produces some of a more general nature.

The list is divided into IDRC Monographs and External Publications. The monograph series includes both general and scientific publications. External Publications refers to those not published by IDRC in the monograph series but which result from work supported by IDRC, or are written by IDRC staff and consultants. This section is broken down into the four program divisions and a general section. Only publications are included; speeches and papers that relate to Centre personnel or activities but have not appeared in print have been omitted.

In addition to the monograph series, IDRC publishes a quarterly bulletin entitled "The IDRC Reports." This publication was first issued in March 1972 and provides a source of information about the activities of the Centre for the public in Canada and other countries. The first issues of "The IDRC Reports" were focused on projects supported by IDRC and on the functions of the four program divisions. Later issues have reported on various problems facing underdeveloped countries (a whole issue was devoted to the world food problem as it affects both developed and underdeveloped countries) and new developments which may have far-reaching effects in the Third World. This periodical has not been included in the publications list but copies may be obtained from the IDRC head office at the address below.

Following the list of publications there is a short subject/author index. This is not intended to be a comprehensive index: it includes a few entries for each publication, and can be used as a fast reference guide by the reader. The entries are made in the language in which the publication appears, and refer to the publications list by means of a chronological numbering system.

Most of the publications listed are still available from the IDRC head office: Box 8500, Ottawa K1G 3H9. Libraries might also be interested in obtaining microfiche editions of IDRC publications. Enquiries would be welcome and should be addressed to the library.

Avant-Propos

La présente brochure contient une liste des publications du Centre de Recherches pour le Développement International ainsi que des publications émanées des activités subventionnées par le CRDI depuis sa création en mai 1970 jusqu'à la fin de 1973. Cette liste a été dressée par Mlle Carol Thiessen, en grande partie d'après les données qui lui ont été fournies par les quatre divisions du Centre. Chaque mise à jour périodique de cette liste constituera un nouveau numéro de notre série de monographies.

Le Centre de Recherches pour le Développement International est une corporation publique, créée par une loi du Parlement canadien, en vue "d'entreprendre, d'encourager, de soutenir et de poursuivre des recherches sur les problèmes des régions du monde en voie de développement et sur les moyens d'application et d'adaptation des connaissances scientifiques, techniques, et autres au progrès économique et social de ces régions". Un Conseil international de Gouverneurs en établit les grandes politiques et approuve les projets que lui présentent les quatre divisions de programmes: Sciences de l'Agriculture, de l'Alimentation et de la Nutrition; Sciences de l'Information; Sciences de la Population et de la Santé; Sciences Sociales et Ressources Humaines.

Le CRDI incite les pays en voie de développement à publier eux-mêmes les résultats de leurs recherches. Cependant, quand un pays en voie de développement ne dispose pas des moyens de publication adéquats ou quand il estime que la publication mérite une plus grande diffusion, le Centre peut parfois agir comme éditeur. Cette publication figure alors dans la série de monographies du CRDI. Dans certains cas, le Centre assume les frais d'un nouveau tirage pour assurer à une publication une plus grande diffusion. Le personnel du Centre rédige également des articles destinés aux journaux, revues et périodiques. Outre les publications scientifiques, le Centre lance des parutions d'une nature plus générale.

La liste comporte deux sections: les Monographies du CRDI et les Publications Externes. La série des monographies comprend à la fois des publications scientifiques et des publications générales. Quant aux publications externes, elles ne figurent pas dans la série de monographies du CRDI, mais dérivent de travaux subventionnés par le Centre ou sont l'oeuvre de son personnel et de ses conseillers. Cette section se répartit suivant les quatre divisions de programmes et une sous-section générale. La liste ne comprend que les publications. Aucun discours et documents non imprimés ayant trait au personnel ou aux activités du Centre n'y apparaissent.

En plus d'une série de monographies, le CRDI publie un bulletin trimestriel intitulé "Le CRDI Informe". Paru pour la première fois en mars 1972, ce périodique constitue pour les Canadiens et les étrangers une source publique d'informations sur les activités du Centre. Les premières éditions de "Le CRDI Informe" portaient exclusivement sur les projets subventionnés par le CRDI et sur les fonctions des quatre divisions de programmes. Par la suite, la revue s'est intéressée aux divers problèmes auxquels les pays en voie de développement doivent faire face (un numéro complet portait sur le problème mondial de l'alimentation, qui touche aussi bien les pays développés que les pays sous-développés), ainsi qu'aux nouveaux développements susceptibles d'avoir des effets considérables sur les pays du Tiers Monde. Ce périodique n'apparaît pas dans la liste des publications, mais on peut en obtenir des exemplaires auprès du siège social du CRDI, à l'adresse ci-dessous.

On trouvera, à la suite de la liste des publications, un bref index par sujets et auteurs. Cet index ne prétend pas être exhaustif; il comprend quelques références pour chaque publication et peut servir au lecteur de guide de consultation rapide. Ces références portées dans la langue de publication suivent la liste des publications dans l'ordre chronologique.

La plupart des publications sont encore disponibles au siège social du CRDI, Case Postale 8500, Ottawa (Canada) K1G 3H9. Il se peut que les bibliothèques désirent obtenir des microfiches de nos publications. Toute demande à cet effet doit être adressée à notre Bibliothèque qui se fera un plaisir d'y répondre.
